TO AILING WOMEN

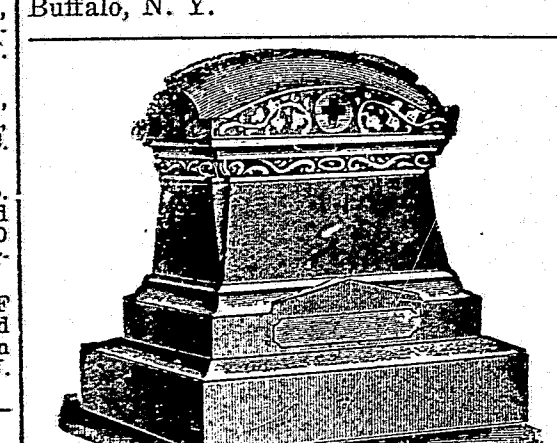

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many
A Sufferer in Norway

No woman should consider herself healthy and well if the kidneys are weak. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are disordered. If the kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen, worse troubles may quickly follow. This is often the cause of bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning is also frequent cause of headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has proven effective in thousands of such cases. Let a Norway woman tell of her experience.

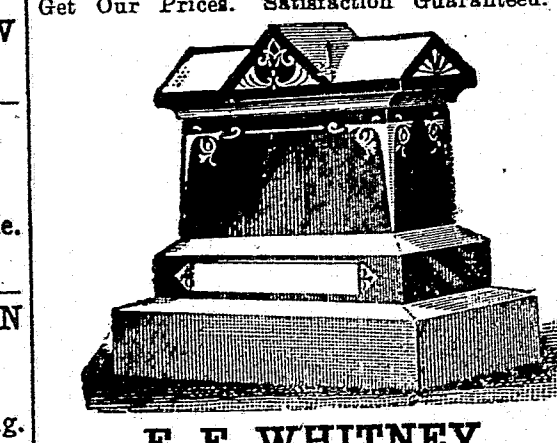

Mrs. A. L. Sanborn, Beal street, says: "I am perfectly satisfied Doan's Kidney Pills are a dependable medicine to relieve ailments resulting from disordered kidneys. I used them a few years ago and gave them a thorough trial. Since then I have had no return of kidney complaint and on that account I place a great deal of confidence in Doan's."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sanborn had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Of course, advertising pays. That was settled long ago. But if you want to give it the most terrible test imaginable, advertise for a housemaid. If you want to invite competition in your line of business, just take your ad out the home paper.

MY POINT OF VIEW

This "dear" and "darling" custom is ruining our race. And if you should question it's a shame and a disgrace.

If young mothers do this, they know the dose they're dealing out. Why can't they sit up and take note of what they are about?

Children are being spoiled today. By being too well used. And when they can't have their own way, they think themselves abused.

Their little minds can't comprehend the meaning of it all. So they're most sure to rebel.

When mamma says, "Don't run away." They go where ever they please. And when in the house they have to stay, they tease and tease and tease.

When mamma says in accents mild, "Please don't do that, my dear," "I will!" "I won't!" comes back to you in accents loud and clear.

When older people try to talk. They're ordered to keep still. And of the best please don't partake. And they've had their fill.

Reading is out of the question. When they are of a suggestion. And if you offer a suggestion. They dub you "an old fool."

Oh! young America's got her reins and is driving at breakneck speed. And if you undertake to use the brake, you'll hear her hiss and sneer.

And if you would come along at all, you must enter a back seat. And if perchance you hear them call, you must answer mild and sweet.

Now I don't think it hardly fair. To be snubbed both ends of the street. When I was young I didn't dare. My elders to dispute.

I knew my place and kept it. Yes, I was very good. But I'm not being adopted. I hardly think I should.

Don't give them too much taffy. It has a bad effect. If you do, it makes them daffy. And you may know what to expect.

TELL HIM NOW
If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing.

If you like him, or you love him, tell him now. Don't withhold your approbation till the person makes a mistake.

And he lies with snowy lips o'er his brow; For no matter how you shout it he won't really care about it.

He won't know how many teardrops you have shed; If you think some praise is due him, now's the time to slip it to him.

For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead. And the hearty, warm approval of a friend, For it gives to life a savor and it makes you sunny.

And it gives you heart and spirit to the end; If he earns your praise—bestow it; if you like him, let him know it.

Let the words of true encouragement be said; Do not wait till life is over and he's underneath the sod. For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

THE PRESENT AGE
This is an age of action. And as the days go by, Many deeds are interwoven With the moments as they fly.

With the alert historian's pen, Marking well the trailing pathways In the characters of men.

'Midst the throws of revolution, Out of swift events, and vast Springing forth a new construction From the relics of the past.

Tottering Thrones, and falling Empires—Worn out toys in life's great play! They are like the passing shadows, That precede the new born day.

Yet, though the mills of God are grinding With their waters in the flood, And the medium for His cleansing Is the nation's flowing blood.

And, though all is seeming chaos, Still the Captain in command, Holds the helm amidst the tempest, With a sure and steady Pliny B. Henley.

Confidence

can only be gained by giving a good, old fashioned square deal. In the case of Men's Apparel especially—Confidence is the key which opens wide the door to success. We have gained the confidence of the Men of South Paris and its vicinity by methods of fair, honest and Broad-Gauge Dealings.

From the moment you enter this store for men you can be assured of courteous and attentive treatment that is in no sense of the word importune. You can look and try on clothes, and if you wish to wait till a later date, or look elsewhere, we will part good friends. You will not be subjected to the efforts of salesmen, in an effort to sell you what you are not ready to buy.

We believe also, to gain complete confidence, it is necessary to go even further than a square deal. Progressive styles, dependable fabrics and high grade tailoring is better than "good enough"—and that is why we pin our faith on

CIVIL WAR TIME ECHOES

"Extracts from letters written by Ephraim H. Brown of Norway which in the army in Virginia as a private in Co. F, 17th Maine, to his sister. Also extracts from letters sent him by his wife from Norway, Me.—Editor.

Hospital near Petersburg, Va., July 19, 1864. I'm well, all right myself except my upper lip. It is swollen as big as a toad and is sore and aches. All on account of a bad tooth. There has been fighting every day and night for a long time and they are at it this morning. It is a continuous roar of cannon. I don't know whether we have got Petersburg or not. Some say we have and some say we have not but I guess we've got so near it we can go in if we want to.

The hospital is in a house where a man lived by the name of Bryant. He moved out when we came along and left everything pretty much. There is a splendid piano, and lots of nice furniture, carpets, rugs, pictures, etc. Everything is now a perfect wreck. There was a fine garden and peach orchard. Everything for the comfort of a rich man. I guess when they come back they will find everything in bad fix and feel homesick. I put a piece of lettuce in it one morning. You can make a square for a quilt if you want to. There is a good many wounded here and many have died. Some 50 are buried here already and probably there will be more more. There is a good many things I could tell but I don't want to dwell on the horrors of war. Am glad you don't have to witness the scenes that I do. Have got no letters for two weeks. I hear there is a mail coming to us and I may get one.

We haven't got to Richmond yet but we have got round on the south side of it, anyhow.

They are loading up the ambulance with wounded to go to the landing on James River and then to Washington.

It is awful hot and the wounded must suffer dreadfully and the chances for recovery for many of them are slim. The flies are so thick its about all a well man can do is to live and die in the shade. I should think they would eat them up in a short time. Gran. [Granville Charles] is well again and about the same as ever. The roar of cannon is continuous even if it is Sunday and the fighting grows more and more desperate and destructive every day. I hope they will get through this battle pretty soon as that and the teeth ache and the flies are telling on my nerves and makes me wonder if "I'll ever get home again."

Wife's Letter From Home
Norway, June 26-1864. Sister Hannah is deeply afflicted. Her son was wounded in the last battle and was taken prisoner and has since died. She and her husband are almost heartbroken. Oh! what sad work this war is making! Will your brother and my husband live to return again. Yes, I believe he will.

We are boarding the school teacher, an excellent girl named Frank North. She keeps at the Academy.

GREAT EPIDEMIC

It may seem strange to many people that so many patients die of pneumonia following influenza, but to the true scientist it is not strange at all. That terrible disease poisons the whole system, reduces the vitality so low that the patient has no ability to rally. The lungs are so poisoned that they do not respond to the usual treatment.

Influenza in its first stages is not difficult to cure. I had great success in treating it when the so-called Russian Influenza first came about. I treat many of my patients by inspiration. I have been a close student of Christian Science for more than 25 years, but I believe that if God did not give man the gift of healing, he would have poor results from Christian Science alone. Our physicians are doing heroic work, but they are battling against odds.—W. W. Maxim.

BETTER METHODS, BETTER SCHOOLS, BETTER FARMING

Farm life is improving and will continue to improve as long as an intelligent and united effort continues to be made by those engaged in agricultural pursuits to bring about better farming and better living on the farm. Better schools, churches, granges and community organizations are coming and are bringing better farming as well as making greater progress possible. The movement will be lasting because the children are being trained to produce more and better crops and to increase the productivity of their farms by rotation of crops, use of good seed, fertilizers and better cultural methods, and to appreciate the possibilities in farming and in the enjoyment of the greater happiness and prosperity on the farm.

REMEMBER THE FARMS

In the stress and strain consequent on the readjustment of the national life to a peace basis there is real danger that the needs of the farmer will not receive the attention they deserve. And the needs of the farms, it is almost unnecessary to say, sooner or later become the needs of every one of us in a particularly intimate and insistent manner.

Were there no farms, the supply of food for any period but winter the supply would to a large extent take care of itself. In spring, summer, or autumn agriculture is active, and the demand for farm help would be great. But when the winter comes, the demand for farm help is not so great. The farmer is then in a position to absorb a good proportion of the men who are returning from war service without any definite future in sight.

But in winter the farms are dormant. The soldiers, sailors, and war workers who are returning to normal life hear no call from the farmer and the farmer hears no call from the soldier. The farmer and the soldier are then in a position to absorb a good proportion of the men who are returning from war service without any definite future in sight.

The farmer and the soldier are then in a position to absorb a good proportion of the men who are returning from war service without any definite future in sight.

Chester R. Wyman
Chester R. Wyman died Friday Jan. 18 at 6:45 p. m., at the C. M. G. Hospital at South Paris from an injury from the band saw. He was working in the saw mill at the Mason Manufacturing plant at South Paris when he fell onto the saw and one of his legs was sawed off near the hip. Dr. Littlefield, was hastily summoned and a special train carried him to Lewiston. Owing to the loss of blood and the shock he only lived a short time after reaching the institution, where everything possible was done for him. He had been employed by the Mason Co. for a number of years.

Mr. Wyman was born in Lebanon, N. H., Dec. 14, 1874, the son of Joseph and Abbie Wyman. From time to time he had been employed at the chair factory at Bridgton, as filer and Sawyer at the Paris Mfg. Co., and at the Mason Mfg. Co., as well as working at farming at home.

Mr. Wyman was a member of the Knights of Pythias, the Odd Fellows, the Encampment and the Red Men. In politics he was a republican.

On Dec. 25th, 1906 he was united in marriage to Ida M. Keene of Paris, who survives him. He is also survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wyman, a sister, Mrs. Winnie Strout of East Rochester, N. H., his brother, Hugh having passed away seven years ago.

The funeral was held at his late residence on the Oxford road Sunday, Jan. 19 at 2 p. m. The officiating clergyman was Rev. C. G. Miller. The bearers were Odd Fellows. Interment took place at Riverside Cemetery at South Paris. The many and kind friends were many and beautiful.

Minnesota Farmer's Letter
E. D. Grant formerly of Manchester, N. H., but now of Glyndon, Minn., recently wrote John A. Woodman of the crops raised last year. He says it was the largest he ever raised.

He says "my wheat crop over aged mightily close to 30 bushels to the acre and we had a little better than a thousand acres, oats, barley and flax turned out the same way. Potatoes from 30 to 40 bushels. This is not the yield you have in Maine but we do not farm as intensively as it pays us better not to."

He lamented a little over the cost of help being $5.00 per day (we assume this includes board) and in harvest time "flu" struck them disabling about half their gang of forty men.

He has bought largely of potatoes and the market has gone bad and feels he will be lucky if he gets his money back. He has a hundred carloads on hand which is about sixty thousand bushels and no market for a market so low as to compel him to make a loss.

Oxford County Will Welcome Soldiers
Walter L. Gray esq., presided at a joint meeting of the citizens of Paris and Norway held in the Norway Opera House Sunday afternoon and Gladys for appropriate celebration when the soldiers return home.

When the affair was first planned, only local conditions were considered and each town raised $1000.00 for the event. The idea has expanded into an Oxford County observance to be held on the Oxford County Agricultural Association grounds, not earlier than May 1. Every "Oxford Bear" who is claimed by towns in the county, and worn the uniform at any time during the war, will become the guest of an association comprising representatives from every town who will receive an invitation from Norway and Paris to participate.

This was the general idea brought out during the meeting. It is understood Rumford favors this plan, and other towns are agreeable to a big field day with a parade, bands of music, sports, a banquet and dancing. All civilians will be invited to attend and give the boys a rousing reception.

The meeting adjourned until word has been received from the Adjutant general that the 103rd has embarked for home.

Dr. E. C. Andrews
Dr. E. C. Andrews, one of the leading physicians of Somerset County, died about Monday, Jan. 13, at his home in North Anson. He had a shock about a week ago and failed to rally. Overwork during the epidemic of influenza contributed to his condition.

Dr. Andrews was born in Lovell Sept. 9, 1865, the son of Charles G. and Phoebe (Chase) Andrews. He prepared for college at Brunswick and was graduated from Bowdoin Medical School in 1892.

Soon after graduating he married Mabel Brown of Fryeburg. They settled at North Anson, where Dr. Andrews took over the home and practice of the late Dr. Wing. In October, 1905, Mrs. Andrews died, leaving two sons, Carl and Arthur, who survive their father.

In March, 1909, Dr. Andrews married Lucy Parker of Boston, who survives him. He leaves also two brothers, one, O. E. Andrews, of South Paris, and Irving E. Andrews, of South Paris, to which place the parents moved when Dr. Andrews was a small boy.

He was a member of Table Rock Lodge L. O. O. F., and Northern Star Lodge F. & A. M., of North Anson; also of De Molay Commandery, K. T., of Skowhegan.

The funeral was held on Thursday from the Andrews home at North Anson, under the auspices of the Masons. Rev. C. W. Rogers of South Paris, former pastor of the Congregational church of North Anson, officiated.

Mrs. Lizzie F. Clifford
Mrs. Lizzie F. Clifford, aged 44, wife of Osmond K. Clifford, died of double pneumonia at her home, known as the Abigail Hall place, Jan. 16. She was the daughter of Amos A. and Anna J. (Edgerly) Bird, born in Paris Oct. 20, 1874.

Mrs. Clifford was always lived in that town. Mrs. Clifford was a member of the South Paris Congregational church, and the Paris Ladies' Aid Society. She was survived by her husband, Osmond K. Clifford, her son Merton, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos A. Bird, her brother, Roy Bird, who lives at Worcester, Mass.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at her late home on Highland Avenue, attended by Rev. C. W. Rogers. The bearers were George F. Howard, Nelson G. Elder, Charles H. Howard and Edwin N. Haskell. Interment in Riverside tomb.

Merton S. Parsons, little son of Oscar W. Parsons, caught a fox in a trap recently and secured $13 for the pelt. His spring pig dressed 426 1/2 pounds.

After being closed for three weeks, the churches opened Sunday with rather small congregations. Schools re-opened Monday and a slight falling off in attendance was noted. Many students who had the influenza have not sufficiently recovered to take chances on contracting colds.

Another Co. D Soldier Home
Sergeant Albert C. Brackett, formerly of Co. D, 103rd Infantry, arrived in town Friday to visit his sister, Mrs. Clifford. He is going to his former home in Harrison. He has been discharged from the service, and was cited for bravery some weeks since.

For some years he was in the Philippines in the regular army. Later he was in Co. D, Second Maine Regiment, and was with it to the Mexican border. After that service he went into the United States service as a private in April 1917, and remained with the 103rd Infantry for a year and a half ago. Sergeant Brackett has been in the casualty list three times, once from the effects of shell fire, once grazed in the neck by machine gun bullets, and once badly gassed.

The Red Cross rooms are open Tuesday and Friday of each week during January and February for work on refugee garments. This is an important matter as the local branch has a large allotment to finish at the early date, to meet their share in the 300,000 garments required from the New England Division. Members are urged to help.

Lieut. Earle R. Clifford is here for a short time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Clifford. He enlisted in the medical department of the army and was on the point of leaving for France when the armistice was signed. He is connected with the Service Supply, with headquarters at Washington.

Absolute Preventative of Appendicitis The Colon Fountain Bath

Some years since, Dr. Perrier of the Paris, France, Academy of Sciences, and others associated with him, found after long experiments that the purpose of the appendix is to regulate and stimulate the bowels by secreting an oleaginous fluid directly affecting the contractile movements of the intestine. Located at the head of the colon at lower end of caecum which begins the large intestine, the appendix is liable to congestion when these parts of the bowel become loaded; and thus its little blind tube or oil can cease to function and a bad condition may occur.

The Remedy is not the removal of such an important organ, but to remove the contents of the colon and hence relieve this congested tract. This the Colon Fountain Bath does completely; and its Antiseptic Powder cleanses the foul contents out and then covers the colon with a clean, healthy mucous membrane. The loss of the appendix is absolute detriment and dangerous to the human economy and leads to chronic disease and final death. The effects are not so soon, or serious as in case of monkeys and rodents having appendices similar to man's, for it means death to them.

The officers of the International Health League offer this complete Bath and Powder for $5.50 prepaid. It is being, also used by members in connection with the Turkish Hot Sulphur Bath Cabinet, a positive preventive of La-grippe and cure for Pneumonia, Congestions, Kidney Trouble and Dropsy. Dr. Stockham says this Thermal Bath is "the quickest and best means of purifying the blood known to man"; and it is proving a perfect cure of the "Flu" and Pneumonia.

This advertisement is endorsed by Eugene H. Judkins, M. D., registered physician, formerly of Paris and Portland, Maine, in memory of his mother done to death by the asinine "science" of appendicitis "surgery"; also of his father dying from false and foolish methods of treating "Lung Fever."

Prices: $5.50 for either Bath. A better Colon Bath cannot be made at any price complete with tips, tubing, nozzles, patent shut off and special colon tube with a dollar package of powder. No money in that at present prices of material!

A better quality of Thermal Bath (No. 2) costs $7.50 and a double-walled one $12.50 (40 pounds of wood and steel in that).

For $15, will deliver No. 2 Thermal and the Colon Bath, with membership in our League and Life Certificate; a Health Coupon for free advice by letter, good six months, and our monthly Health Magazine with 100 Universal Coupons and choice of either book "Perfect Health" or "Scientific Living."
